ARTICLE PUBLISHING AGREEMENT – EXCLUSIVE LICENCE TO PUBLISH (NASIG)

GRANT OF EXCLUSIVE LICENCE

1. In consideration of the publication of your Article and subject to the provisions of the accompanying publishing agreement information form, you grant to us for the full legal term of the copyright and any extension or renewals, the exclusive licence (i) to publish, reproduce, distribute, display and store the Article worldwide in all forms, formats and media now known or as developed in the future, including print, electronic and digital forms, (ii) to translate the Article into other languages, create adaptations, summaries or extracts of the Article or other derivative works based on the Article and all provisions elaborated in 1(i) above shall apply in these respects, and (iii) to sub-license all such rights to others. In the event the Article is not accepted and published by us or is withdrawn by you before acceptance by us, the exclusive licence to publish set out in this agreement shall cease to be effective and all rights granted by you to us in relation to the Article shall revert to you or your co-authors.

PUBLISHER RESPONSIBILITIES ON BEHALF OF THE SOCIETY

2. The publisher shall prepare and publish your Article in the Journal. We reserve the right to make such editorial changes as may be necessary to make the Article suitable for publication, or as we reasonably consider necessary to avoid infringing third party rights or law; and we reserve the right not to proceed with publication for whatever reason. After publication, your article will be made available Open Access by the publisher after a period of six months from publication of the Version of Record.

AUTHOR RIGHTS

3. You hereby assert your moral rights to be identified as the author of the Article according to the US copyright law.

4. You are permitted to use the material in the ways described in the Schedule of Author's Rights providing that you meet all the conditions set out in the Schedule. These are rights which are personal to you and cannot be transferred by you to anyone else.

You can post your Accepted Manuscript (AM) on your departmental or personal website at any point after publication of your article (this includes posting to Facebook, Google groups, and LinkedIn, and linking from Twitter). To encourage citation of your work we recommend that you insert a link from your posted AM to the published article on Taylor & Francis Online with the following text:

“This is an Accepted Manuscript of an article published by Taylor & Francis in [JOURNAL TITLE] on [date of publication], available online: [http://www.tandfonline.com/\[Article DOI\]](http://www.tandfonline.com/[Article DOI]).”

For example: “This is an Accepted Manuscript of an article published by Taylor & Francis Group in Africa Review on 17/04/2014, available online: <http://www.tandfonline.com/10.1080/12345678.1234.123456>.”

N.B. Using a real DOI will form a link to the Version of Record on Taylor & Francis Online.

The AM is defined by the National Information Standards Organization as:

“The version of a journal article that has been accepted for publication in a journal.”

This means the version that has been through peer review and been accepted by a journal editor. When you receive the acceptance email from the Editorial Office we recommend that you retain this article for future posting. After this article is made available Open Access by the publisher after a period of six months from publication of the Version of Record, the permitted use described above is extended to the Version of Record.

AUTHOR WARRANTIES

5. You hereby warrant that you have secured the necessary written permission from the appropriate copyright owner or authorities for the reproduction in the Article and in the Journal of any text, illustration, or other material. You warrant that, apart from any such third party copyright material included in the Article, the Article is your original work, and does not infringe the intellectual property rights of any other person or entity and cannot be construed as plagiarising any other published work. You further warrant that the Article is not currently under submission to, nor is under consideration by or has been accepted by any other journal or publication, nor has been previously assigned or licensed by you to any third party. Without prejudice to the provisions of Clause 3 above you undertake that the fully reference-linked version of scholarly record will not be published elsewhere without our prior written consent.

6. In addition you warrant that the Article contains no statement that is abusive, defamatory, libelous, obscene, fraudulent, nor in any way infringes the rights of others, nor is in any other way unlawful or in violation of applicable laws.

7. You warrant that wherever possible and appropriate, any patient, client or participant in any research or clinical experiment or study who is mentioned in the Article has given consent to the inclusion of material pertaining to themselves, and that they acknowledge that they cannot be identified via the Article and that you will not identify them in any way.

8. You warrant that you shall include in the text of the Article appropriate warnings concerning any particular hazards that may be involved in carrying out experiments or procedures described in the Article or involved in instructions, materials, or formulae in the Article, and shall mention explicitly relevant safety precautions, and give, if an accepted code of practice is relevant, a reference to the relevant standard or code.

9. You shall indemnify Taylor & Francis for legal liability incurred by it on the grounds that the article is a violation of any of the warranties given above. However, as soon as Taylor & Francis becomes aware of circumstances which are likely to give rise to an obligation on your part to indemnify it as provided above, Taylor & Francis shall notify you and shall take steps to minimize liability, and shall make reasonable efforts to follow any instructions given by you regarding a defence against the claim concerned. Furthermore, Taylor and Francis agrees to indemnify author(s) should there be any breach on our part of the "Publisher Responsibilities" as outlined in this agreement.

10. If the Article was prepared jointly with other authors, you warrant that you have been authorized by all co-authors to sign this Agreement as agent on their behalf, and to agree on their behalf the order of names in the publication of the Article. You shall notify us in writing of the names of any such co-owners.

GOVERNING LAW

11. This agreement (and any dispute, proceeding, claim or controversy in relation to it) is subject to US law and the jurisdiction of the Courts of the United States. It may only be amended by a document signed by the authors, society representatives and publishers.
